MRS. DOXEY ACQUITTED BY JURY

And is Bound Over to District Court—Couple from Ohio.

St. Louis June 4.—With a shriek, Mrs. Dora Elizabeth Doxey, who was charged with the murder of William J. Eder, fell sobbing into the arms of her white-haired father in Judge Grimm's court at 2:30 o'clock last night, as the court's clerk read the jury's verdict of acquittal.

A crowd of 500 men and women arose, shouting like mad, while deputy sheriffs rapped vainly for order.

Half carried in the arms of her father and ex-Lieutenant Governor Charles P. Johnson, her cousin, she was swept toward the jury box, and shook the hand of each juror, while tears of joy rolled unnoticed down her cheeks.

The jury arrived at its verdict on the third ballot, taken at 8:30 p.m. The first two ballots were taken before the jurors were taken to supper at 6:35 p.m., and stood 9:30 and 10:20 for acquittal, respectively.

Contrary to expectations, Mrs. Doxey was not re-arrested on charges of bigamy or perjury after her release, but was allowed to accompany her sisters to the hotel to spend the night.

"I will prosecute the prosecuting attorney if he dares lay a hand on her without a warrant," said former Lieutenant Governor Johnson.

An information charging bigamy is in the hands of St. Louis county's sheriff, and it was thought one of his deputies would take charge of Mrs. Doxey when she was acquitted. As assistant Circuit Attorney Rosskopf announced informations charging perjury and obtaining money by false pretenses would probably be issued against Mrs. Doxey.

Mrs. Doxey walked, supported by her sisters, to the hotel.

"I can only say I am so happy and relieved," Mrs. Doxey said. "I will never take any more morphine, and I will never live with Dr. Doxey again. I can't say any more tonight."

When Mrs. Doxey was led into court at 9:25 p.m. it was evident she feared the worst. Her crying became louder, amounting to shrieks at times. She fell upon the counsel table.

Sheriff Neite led her from the room into an ante-chamber, but her walls there became anti-leader penetrating through closed doors. Neite had carried her back into the room as Judge Grimm called for the defendant.

She did not lift her head to look at the jurors as they passed into the box. As the verdict was delivered to the court Mrs. Doxey's walls grew louder.

Sheriff Neite placed his arms around her and lifted her to her feet, and with difficulty retained his own and her position while the verdict was read.

After Mrs. Doxey had shaken hands with the jurors and nearly everybody else in the court room she started to leave and had got as far as the entrance to the bar ministry when Judge Grimm called her back.

"I forgot to tell you you were discharged," he said.

"Thank you, Judge," said Mr. Doxey.

"Don't thank me," he replied. "The jurors gave you your liberty. I had nothing to do with it except to see that everybody got a square deal."

During her walk to the court Mrs. Doxey said, "All the other characters can prosecute me on facts of insignificance beside the one of which I have just been acquitted."

When informed of his wife's acquittal Dr. Loren B. Doxey turned up from his hideout and said, "Well, I'm glad to hear that." Then he added, "If she had come back to the jail when told she had gone to a hotel, Doxey said, "I'm sorry she's not coming back. I would like to talk to her a few minutes."

"We will keep Mrs. Doxey's cell for her," said a jail guard. "I hear two or three warrants are out for her, and she may not even get a chance to change hotels for one night."

The defense gained a point when Judge Grimm, in his instructions, struck from the indictment all save the first two counts, the first charging that Eder was killed with arsenic and the second that arsenic caused a malady resulting in his death.

The count charging murder with arsenic of soda was among the three struck out. This was the bill by which the state attempted to connect Dr. Doxey with the alleged murderer.

FEAR REPETITION OF THE BOXER UPRISING IN CHINA

Peking, China June 4.—A repetition of the Boxer uprising, though on a much larger scale, is feared by government officials in view of further alarming reports received today from the interior. The situation in Anhui, the seat of the rebellion, is alarming the foreigners to leave. American Minister Calhoun takes an alarmist view of the situation.

SENATE PASSES RAILROAD BILL BY VOTE OF 50 TO 12

Washington, June 4.—A step forward" is the explanation made by many senators of their action in voting for the senate railroad bill. That is the reason that close consensus on many amendments were followed by the overwhelming vote of 50 to 12 in favor of the bill when it was passed. It was a case of taking that or nothing, and the dissatisfied ones decided to accept the bill for the good it contained and to hope for the day when the objectionable features might be eliminated by amending the new law. The creation of a court of commerce, which is to be devoted entirely to the consideration of cases growing out of the interstate commerce law was the hardest to swallow by progressive senators.

Against the court there was urged the claim of lack of necessity; that it had been in existence during the last three years it would have been called upon for the trial of only 28 cases; that its creation would be an unconstitutional act; that it was unnecessary to sue such tremendous interests as are involved in the transportation business under the jurisdiction of a small body of men; that in time the railroads, with their great influence, would get their own men on the bench of the court, and that its creation was a useless expense. The features of the bill most favorable to railroads, as it was received by the interstate commerce committee, were eliminated before a final vote.

In its mateated by persons interested in the association that pressure will be brought to bear upon President Taft of such a character that the department of justice will be compelled to withdraw its suit against the western roads. Accordingly, it is said, the influence of J. P. Morgan & Co., carried through George W. Perkins, has led the western railroads to recede much of their opposition to the increased rates. Perkins, it is declared by men familiar with the situation here, has pointed out to the shippers that they could pass any increase on to the consumer and that their fitness would not be hurt by a reasonable advance in rates.

Madrid, Spain, June 4.—The condition of King Alfonso's health since his return from London is causing grave apprehension today throughout Spain. Rumors that Alfonso is seriously affected with both cerebral and pulmonary trouble are generally accepted. He is almost daily communication with Dr. Moore, the famous Bordeaux specialist.

Saturday the sky cleared for the first time in a week and this afternoon at Wheler park the Newark Molders and the Portsmouth Shoemakers are playing a double header, the first of the season. Newark has not played a game since Monday afternoon and as the drain on the treasury has naturally been very heavy, it is to be hoped that there will be good crowds at the games today, and Sunday should see a big crowd at the ball yard, for the boys are playing good ball, and since they now go up against the league leaders they should be given every encouragement by the local fans.

Sunday will be the first chance the fans have had to see the Molders since they left early last week, and since that time the boys have taken a decided brace, and Manager Berryhill is confident they can make the Shoemakers travel at a fast pace while at SERIOUS HUMOR.

This Nation prides itself on possessing a great sense of humor. It is undoubtedly true that the American is quick to see an ordinary joke; and it is equally true that he is quick—quicker, perhaps, than all Europeans—to grasp an ordinary idea of any kind. Both propositions simply mean that he has unusual mental alertness. We shall need more than this before we can rise to the highest international level of humorous production and appreciation. More "brightness" can enable neither successful rivalry nor genuine enjoyment of such as Lucian, Juvenal, Cervantes, Leonardo, Gogol, Chekhov, Ibsen, Swift, Thackeray, Rabelais, La Rochejaquelein. Those authors would be considered rather dolorous by the railway train reader of our "comic" weeklies and Sunday supplements, who like something "snappy," prepossessing in the reader a rather shallow intellect. That sort of undevout mind is likely to be incapable of knowing fully sorrow, indignation, pity, doubt, or despair; yet it is precisely these deep emotions which alone can enlarge the mind enough to make the really best "jokes" come out of it or get into it. View of Mark Twain's reminiscence found anything but a funny fellow in that serious philosopher, ripened by afflictions and keenly perceptive of the fact that the knaves and the fools here below often flourish abundantly.

WHAT IS SOCIETY?

All social intercourse is lying, pure and simple. Social intercourse has its roots in man's gregarious nature and instinct for solidarity. It proceeded originally from the innate impulse to see himself surrounded by fellow beings and to avoid solitude as an unnatural condition.

The forms of social intercourse still betray their origin, they signify the pleasure in companionship and the sympathetic interest of men for each other. When we meet an acquaintance we greet him; that is, we express our desire for his well-being; if we receive a visit, we manifest our delight; we persuade the visitor to remain, we press him to come again soon; we give parties to offer our fellow men an opportunity for different kinds of pleasure; we spread bouquets for their satisfaction, we make presents to them.

When any sad or pleasant occurrence betrays them we hasten to console them or congratulate them; if we have not seen them for some time, we look for them to convince us of their well-being, and to inquire if there is any service we can render them.

This is the import of our forms of social intercourse in theory. In reality every point at which we come in contact is hypocritical lie.

We meet some one in the street and wish him good-day, and would be glad to learn that he had broken both legs at the next step. We urge a visitor to call again soon, when we have at the sight of him the sensation as if we had laid our hands on a epitile. We arrange festivities and invite people to whom we despise, whom we hate, behind whose backs we repeat all sorts of malicious things to their discredit; or at most to whom we are so indifferent that we would not even remove our gloves if by this slight effort we would give them a pleasure.

We go to other people's parties, spending the hours of the night which we would a thousand times prefer to devote to sleep, in silly chatter, smiling pleasantly, while we are nearly overpowered by a desire to yawn, returning compliments of which we do not believe a single word, thanking the hostess for her kind invitation for which in our hearts we wish her in the depths of the Tead Sea, assuring the host of our constant friendship, and the next day tell our servants to deny him admission if he should happen to ask some real favor of us.

We pay visits to people whom we despise simply because we owe them a call. We mix in apparent intimacy with persons of whom we think and say everything that is bad. And yet we condemn ourselves voluntarily to these unpleasantnesses, and most people of the so-called better classes devote their whole life to society, although they know well they cannot find in it either pleasure, excitement or elevation. What induces them to take part in this incessant, exacting comedy, in which they are obliged to smile where they would like to show their teeth, and play the agreeable to people of whom one glimpse is sufficient to render the whole day unpleasant.

Selfishness! Selfishness alone, which is the sole cause and motive of all our modern institutions. — Exchange.

Miss Lucas, instructor of domestic science in the Newark High school, extends a cordial invitation to the mothers of the girls in this department to attend a class reception which will be held every school day of next week in the domestic science room in the High school. The mothers of the girls in the morning classes are invited at ten o'clock and those of the girls in the afternoon classes at two o'clock. Miss Lucas is desirous of the parents seeing what the pupils have accomplished under her supervision, and of how much value is the addition of this department to the courses.

A pleasant event of the week took place Monday evening when a number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson assembled at their home on South Morris street to remind them of its being their thirty-fourth wedding anniversary. Mrs. Huches had not forgotten the day, as she surprised her friends when she received and welcomed them to her home, gowned in white and wore a bridal veil. As a token of love and esteem the couple was presented with several beautiful pieces of hand-painted china. The evening was spent in happy hours, after which an elaborate roast was served.

Those who think that the freedom, independence and educational advantages of the woman of today are detrimental to her best development should take a long look backward and then, in the light of what he sees, a long look forward, and, we think, he will decide the woman of the future will be a vast improvement over the woman of the past.

With men, for instance, a comparison of the uneducated, uncultured "cracker" of some backwoods region with some foremost scientist of the center of civilization gives a vivid picture of what advancement means. The "cracker" is simply the product of his environment. Give him generations of education, culture, association with the best civilization offers, and he will become the cultured, useful member of society the scientist is. And, looking ahead, the scientist of today will fall far short of what the same type will be hundreds of years hence.

The same conditions are true of women. And as the scientist is of more value to the world and more truly what a man should be than is the "cracker," so will the developed woman be more useful and happier. For anyone who finds his powers and uses them is more truly fulfilling the purpose of living. As all progress is from the material to the mental and spiritual, the path ahead of women is inspiring.

The woman of the future will be able to leave behind her the purely practical burdens that have kept her eyes down to earth. She can straighten up her back, bowed by centuries of the hardest toll, look up and see the sky. Not that these tasks will be neglected, but science and invention are doing these better than she can. Already she no longer spins or makes candles or soap or cures the ham and bacon for the family's needs. Many more do not bake, make lounging which of the guests entered into a number of visiting contests at the close of which the prizes were awarded to Mrs. Carl Norppi, Mrs. J. W. Hornby and Miss Elizabeth Houghland.

On last Saturday afternoon Miss Delta Belt, with the Sunday school class, attended a wedding at Shepardson's in Granville. All were greatly entertained at the reception, and at 5:30 o'clock supper was served on Sugar Campus, and at 6:30 supper was served on Sugarcampus. The members of the class were: Misses Verna Bragg, Neva Bragg, Leaven Mary Davis, Iva Fouts, Leila Gallogly, Ruth Hanks, Bessie L. Harkins, Ruth Holler, Flora Slaughter and Miss Bell.

RUNYAN PARKER.

Granville, June 4.—An event of more than ordinary interest to granville people was the marriage of Miss Harriet M. Barker, to Mr. George Denison, Saturday evening, in the First Baptist church of Warren, O., of which the bride's brother, Rev. William Parker is the pastor.

Nature could not have dropped as her offering no fairer day, and surely if the old adage is true, the sun had shone on no happier bride. The church decorations, a service of love, were of tarts and snowballs. The altar was a solid mass of green, bounded on either side by great bunches of the snowy blossoms while the choir railings above was trimmed with green, here and there a cluster of white gleaming among the foliage. At the door where the reception was held after the same color scheme—green and white—was carried out in the decoration of rooms and tables.

Promptly at seven the familiar strains of the Lobengulin wedding march were heard and slowly down the left aisle of the church came the bride leaning on the arm of her sister, Miss Mariet Parker, and preceded by her niece Miss Juliet Parker, who acted as ring bearer. At the altar the Rev. Mr. Parker instead of the regular Episcopalian service a beautiful though less formal service was used, the bride and groom exchanging rings.

Following the ceremony at the church there was a reception and supper at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Barbra Porter avenue, only the immediate family and few close friends were present. Here several happy hours were passed and then the bride threw the bouquet of white roses and valentine lilies into the midst of a laughing company. When a little later the bride and groom clasped for the last time the hands of those who wished them joy, the rice bowl was passed quietly around and as they hurried to their carriage they had to submit to a gentle shower of good luck o' the way.

The bride's gown was of white French lawn, made simply and trimm'd with German val. Mrs. Mariet Parker wore a silver gray silk and Miss Juliet Parker a very pretty white mill with lace trimmings. The presents were handsome and represented loving thoughts of many friends. None of them however were appreciated more than the magnificent bunch of white roses accompanied by a shower of little notes from each she Jason girl who had known and loved the bride as their Dean. After a week or ten days by the lake, Mr. and Mrs. Runyan will go to their future field of labor Albuquerque, New Mexico, where Mr. Runyan

UNITED YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETIES.

A called meeting of the United Young People's Societies will be held at the First Congregational church, Monday, June 6, at 7:30 o'clock, to complete the plans for their summer evangelistic work. It is very important that the pastors, presidents, and congressmen from each church and society be present. The good work which was done by these faithful young people and the pastors in the gospel wagon meetings last summer has added many concessions to the different churches, and already appeals have come in from different sections of the city, asking that they be continued this summer. By this method men, women and children are reached with good literature and the gospel message, who seldom, if ever, enter our churches.

In the name of our Saviour, we appeal to every church, society and individual to aid and encourage these young people in this great work.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Pig That Became Great

Tied Him to an Apple Tree

"M ost pigs, kiddies, would rather eat than go to a baseball game," said daddy in reading his bedtime story, "and I am going to tell you to eat now this cattle at."

"Years and years ago there was only one family of pigs in the world. The father was Mr. Joshua Pig, the mother Mrs. Susan Pig, and the little weeny pigs were Albert, Arthur, Sammy, Katty, Anna and Grace Pig. They would never goode down their bushes of corn, three bushels of peaches, a peck of apples and a basket of bread and then sleep for more, as the pig of today does. They chewed their feed s, way and were content with a few roots and nuts at one meal.

"That is, all but one of them was, and he was the weeny pig named Sammy. As Sammy grew up he began to eat so much that his mamma got worried and took him to see the doctor. But when the doctor asked him to stick out his tongue Sammy was eating apples and one got caught in his throat, and he coughed right in the doctor's face. For his odd manners his mamma carried him home by the tail and tickled his papa, and he was soundly whipped. And when he kept right on eating all the time he was told to leave the pen and never come back until he had better sense."

"Well, when Sammy left he didn't take his high hat or his gloves or his best suit, but packed his grip with cake and jam, and as soon as he was a block from home he sat right down under a tree and began to stuff himself. When he had eaten it all up he went to a farm and hid in the barn, where he did nothing but eat and sleep. At last he got so big and fat that he could hide no longer, and one day the farmer saw him."

"Waaah, waaah, waaah," said the farmer when he got a good look at Sammy. "I've seen one or two pigs before, but never such a one as this. He's the greatest pig in the world—yes, sirree. He's the greatest pig in all the world. I'll take him down to the county fair tomorrow and make folks open their eyes."

"So he put a rope around Sammy's leg and tied him to an apple tree, but Sammy got so hungry in the night that he ate the rope, the tree and all the apples on it, and then he ran home as fast as he could and told his folks that a farmer had called him the greatest pig in all the world."

"Did he really say that?" asked papa pig.

"That's just what he said," replied Sammy. "You should just have heard him go on about me being so great."

"That made them jealous, kiddies, and so to be great, too, they began to eat sixteen meals a day, and ever since all pigs do the same, so that they can be big and fat, which is their idea of greatness."

MOTHER'S FRIEND

A LINIMENT FOR EXTERNAL USE.

One of the most valuable qualities of Mother's Friend is that it safe-guards the future health of the mother. It is a liniment to be applied externally to the body, the use of which lubricates the muscles and tendons, softens the glands and ducts, prevents lumps forming in the breasts, and relieves the pain, nervousness, nausea, and other troubles from which so many expectant mothers suffer. When Mother's Friend is used regularly it fits and prepares the system for an easy and natural consummation of the term. Women who massage with this great liniment are always saved much suffering when baby comes, and recover more quickly, and without effects. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Repairing Street.

A force of men was put to work this morning repairing the paving between the car tracks. The bricks became loosened during the winter, and in some places bad holes were put in the street, and it is these places that are being repaired.

Boys Run Away.

The police have received word to be on the lookout for William A. Sedler, a boy 16 years old, who ran away from his home at Rushville on Wednesday last. A boy 14 years old disappeared from his home in Triana, and the police received his description, but his name was not learned.

Trees Were Girdled.

Some time Friday night 12 fruit trees owned by Dr. H. R. Emery were girdled by someone and the trees will probably die as a result. No one was seen around his home at 12 Fulton avenue, and no noise was heard during the night, but this morning the damaged trees were discovered.

Returned With Prisoner.

Officer Burke returned last night from Canton with Frank Laven, who was wanted for the alleged burglary of the Jones hardware store last Sunday night. He was given his hearing in police court this morning, and a waiting examination was bound over to the court of common pleas in the sum of $300.

Paralytic Stroke.

Mr. S. G. Poos, one of Newark's best known and most highly esteemed citizens, sustained a severe stroke of paralysis at his home on West Main street on Friday, which affected his entire left side. His condition at this writing remains unchanged. His many friends in the city will hope for his speedy recovery.

Old Soldiers Entertained.

The King's Daughters of Granville did a nice thing for the old soldiers on Decoration Day that will not soon be forgotten by the old veterans. At the conclusion of the services incident to the day, the old soldiers were invited to the Methodist church, where they were provided with a sumptuous dinner and otherwise entertained.

Suspends Publication.

The New Straitsville Record suspended publication a few days ago. The publisher gave as the reason for suspending publication that the local business men did not support the paper.

The people of that city should have more city pride than to kill the only means they have of letting the outside world know that they are on the map.

Removed From City Hospital.

Jacob Steinemper, who has been confined in the city hospital, where he underwent an operation, is rapidly recovering and this morning was removed from the institution in Criss Bros. & Jones' ambulance to the home of his sister, Mrs. John Schopen, 373 Woods avenue, where he would like to have his friends call and see him.

A Bad Practice.

Recently there has been considerable complaint from automobileists about boys jumping on their machines and holding fast while the autos are going at a high rate of speed along the streets, notably in the northern part of the city. If a boy should slip or the driver make the slightest mistake on the lever, a tragedy might result, and the owner of the automobile would be blamed and held liable.

Miss Seigfried Transferred.

The many friends in this city and county of Miss Sylvia Seigfried, a former resident of Croton and until recently a teacher in the Newark high school, will be interested in the following notice concerning her, which was published in the Philippine Christian, a small paper published in Vigan, Ilocos Sur, P. I.: "In view of the approaching furlough of the Pickets, Miss Seigfried has gone from the Vigan to the Laog Station from the Vigan to the Laog Station work there. The Vigan missionaries, members of the church, the American colony and the out-door regiments, removal for Miss Seigfried has done a fine work in her first Philippine home. The need of additional missionaries here is felt daily."

AWFUL PAINS FULLY DESCRIBED

A Lady of Pizarro Tells Story of Awful Suffering That Cardui Finally Relieved.

Pizarro, Va.—"I suffered for several years," writes Mrs. Dora A. Smith, "with that awful backache and the bearing down sensations, so fully described in your book."

"I tried doctors and other medicines and found little relief, until I was induced to try Wine of Cardui, when I found instant relief and today I can heartily recommend Cardui to all suffering women and think there is no other as good."

In some instances, Cardui gives instant relief; in others, it may take a little time. But in all cases of female trouble Cardui can be depended on to be of benefit, as it is a specific remedy for women and acts in a curative way on the womanly organs.

As a general tonic for women, to build up your strength, improve your appetite, bring back rosy cheeks and make you look and feel young and happy, nothing you can find will do so much for you as Cardui.

Your druggist has it.

KEITH VAUDEVILLE.

If the public of Newark likes the shows at the Auditorium this week they should not overlook the bill of next week, as the bill the first three days of next week will be one of the best that has ever been in the city. Look it over, and if you do not think it is one of the best balanced bills that has been in this city, when then the Keiths have made a mistake, that is what they claim for it.

It is the 10th anniversary of the Keiths' residence here, and the Auditorium is the largest and most comfortable theater in the country, with 2,000 seats and 100 boxes.
